

6. Did you set any goals at the beginning of the year? Did you meet any of those goals? If so, which ones?

I set a goal to maintain all A's in Algebra I except that obviously hasn't worked out.

7. Having reflected on what you have accomplished this past marking period, what is a goal you have going into the next marking period?

Start fresh, make sure I pay attention in class, and hand in my homework.

Addition Comments:

I think that our teachers should give us until Monday to hand in late work since there was no warning on when the grades closed.

6. Did you set any goals at the beginning of the year? Did you meet any of those goals? If so, which ones?

To be responsible enough to hand everything in w/o teachers asking for it - which is also the major difference between middle and high school.

7. Having reflected on what you have accomplished this past marking period, what is a goal you have going into the next marking period?

Keeping a better track of work due for class, not missing anything

Addition Comments:

6. Did you set any goals at the beginning of the year? Did you meet any of those goals? If so, which ones?

I said that I'd be on honor roll all year round.
☹️ that fell through horribly. So, sadly no I didn't meet my goal.

7. Having reflected on what you have accomplished this past marking period, what is a goal you have going into the next marking period?

Doing my homework and really trying to understand and improve.

Addition Comments:

6. Did you set any goals at the beginning of the year? Did you meet any of those goals? If so, which ones?

At the beginning my goal was just to maintain having "A's", and yes I did the 1st & 2nd semester.

7. Having reflected on what you have accomplished this past marking period, what is a goal you have going into the next marking period?

My goal is to not get lazy & stay on top of my stuff.

Addition Comments: